Kashmiri Dum Aloo

From my childhood, almost in every bengali wedding I have seen the famous combo of 'koraishutir kochuri' and 'kashmiri aloor dom' in the menu card. There is no question about that combo, it tastes heavenly. This dish is no onion and no garlic recipe but the attraction is its nice red color. You will need different types of spice powder for this recipe. I don't know much about kashmiri cuisin, this was my first try and I just nailed it . I served this curry in dinner with some 'jeera rice' and 'his' reaction was ... Try this in your kitchen and I truly wanna know about your family's response.

Ingredients

10-12 baby potatoes.
1 Teaspoon cumin seeds.
1 bay leaf.
4 green cardamoms.
6 tablespoons of curd.
Spice powder (1 Teaspoon turmeric powder, 2 Teaspoons kashmiri red chilli powder, 2 Teaspoons red chilli powder, 2 Teaspoons garam masala powder, 1 Teaspoon dry ginger powder, 1 Teaspoon fennel powder).
Salt and sugar.
8 tablespoons of white oil.
6 Teaspoonss of mustard oil.
1 Teaspoon ghee / clarified butter.
Warm water.

Steps

Boil the potatoes with skin for 15 minutes.

Then drain out the water and peel the skin. Take a toothpick and poke some holes in them so that they can absorbe the gravy while cooking.
Heat white oil in a pan. Fry the boiled potatoes with pinch of turmeric powder and salt untill golden brown in color.
Remove them from the pan.
Add all the above mentioned powder in the curd and beat it very well. Keep it aside.
Heat mustard oil in a pan.
Add cumin seeds, green cardamoms and bay leaf. Saute it for a minute.
Bring the flame to low and add the curd mixture. Stir immediately with a spatula for 3 minutes.
Cook it for 10 minutes in medium flame.
Then add salt, sugar and some warm water.

Mix it.

Add the fried potatoes. Cover the pan and cook this until the potatoes are fully cooked.

Add one Teaspoon ghee and pinch of garam masala before turn off the heat.

Macher Jhol

Bengalis make various kinds of fish curry with different types of fishes. The most simple and easy one is 'macher jhol' or fish curry. 'Jhol' means runny version of a curry. This dish is usually served as lunch with steamed rice and we all are fan of it. In 'macher jhol' you can use rohu / katla / tilapia / pomfret / pabda etc. One can add many kinds of vegetables like potato, cauliflower, eggplant, green peas, carrot etc. I always make this dish with potato and cauliflower because of 'him'. He typically loves this combo. According to me, there is only one restriction about this dish. You have to use 'green chilies' only for the heat and flavour. Try not to use red chili powder or dry red chili because it will make a huge difference. So, here is the recipe how I make 'macher jhol' for my family.

Ingredients

4 fish pieces.
4 pieces of potato.
4-5 pieces of cauliflower.
Half onion thinly sliced.
Half tomato chopped.
1 Tablespoon nigella seeds (kalojeera).
5 green chilies.
2 Teaspoons turmeric powder.
Half Teaspoons roasted cumin powder.
Salt and sugar.
Half cup of mustard oil.
Warm water.

Steps

Wash the fish pieces very well and then marinate them with some salt and 1 Teaspoon turmeric powder for 15 minutes.
Heat oil in a kadai or pan. Fry the vegetables for 5 minutes in hot oil. Remove them in a plate.
Then add the marinated fish pieces one by one in hot oil.
Fry both side of them for 5 minutes. Then remove it from the pan. You can also keep them on a paper towel, it will absorb the extra oil. While frying the vegetables do not make them dark in color.
In the same hot oil add nigella seeds and 2 green chilies. Saute them. If you prefer to cook in less oil then remove some oil from the pan. But do not change the oil otherwise the taste will differ.

After a minute add sliced onion and pinch of salt. Fry them for 4 minutes in medium flame.

Do not make the onion dark in color.

Then add chopped tomato, pinch of salt, 1 Teaspoon turmeric powder, 1 Teaspoon cumin powder and half Teaspoon sugar. Mix it very well in low flame for 5 minutes.

When the oil starts separating add some warm water and 3 green chilies. Mix it well. If you like more heat, you can add more green chilies. Try to avoid red chili powder or dry red chili for this recipe only.

After 2 minutes add the fried vegetables. Cook this for 8 minutes.

Then add the fried fish pieces. Mix gently with spatula and cook it for another 5 minutes.

Check the seasoning and if you want more curry add some warm water.

Turn off the heat and rest it for 5 minutes.

Simple Aloor Dom

Bengalis are always very fond of 'peas kochuri' and 'aloor dom' (Dum Aloo) during winter. In Texas, the temperature starts falling as we approach towards the winter time. I already took out light blankets, full sleeves and light sweaters. Last weekend 'he' begged me for 'kochuri-alurdom' and here is the result ... I have already posted one recipe of 'aloor dom' which we can make for party or any special occasions. But this one, you can eat anyday with 'luchi', 'paratha', 'daalpuri' and very easy to make. Try this in your kitchen and don't forget to share your winter story with us.

Ingredients

10 baby potatoes.
1 cup onion slices.
1 inch ginger.
2 big cloves of garlic.
Half cup chopped tomato.
1 Teaspoon cumin seeds.
1 bay leaf.
1 dry red chili.
Spice powder (2 Teaspoons turmeric powder,
1 Teaspoon red chili powder, 2 Teaspoons garam masala powder).
2 green chilies.
7 tablespoons of mustard oil.
Salt and sugar.
Warm water.

Steps

Peel the skin and wash the potatoes properly. Make a smooth paste of onion, ginger, garlic and tomato with little water. Keep it aside. Heat 3 tbsps of oil in a pan. Add potatoes, 1/2 Teaspoon salt and 1 Teaspoon turmeric powder. Mix it and fry it for 5 minutes. Remove them from the pan and heat remaining oil. Add cumin seeds, bay leaf and dry red chili in hot oil. Saute it for a minute. Then add the smooth paste. Cook it for 10 minutes. Then add spice powder, salt and pinch of sugar. Mix and cook it for another 5 minutes. Add the fried potatoes and green chilies. Mix those very well.

Add some warm water. Cook it for 20 minutes.

When the potatoes become tender then turn off your heat.

Mutton Kosha (bengali style)

I love to eat mutton in any preparation, but do you have any experience of "mutton kosha"? I would love to know your story. Because this dish is one of the traditional Bengali curries. We slow cook the mutton in its own juices with gravy and spices, that's why the end result always becomes finger licking good. You can serve 'mutton kosha' along with 'steamed rice', 'mishti pulao', 'luchi', 'porota' and 'plain roti'. Believe me every combo will make your lunch or dinner special everytime. Try this in your own kitchen and make your family happy.

Ingredients

Mutton 12-15 pieces.
Potato 4 pieces.
1 big onion chopped.
Ginger and garlic paste 2 Teaspoons.
1 small tomato chopped.
Turmeric powder 2 Teaspoon.
Red chili powder 1 Teaspoon.
Coriander powder 2 Teaspoon.
Cumin powder 1 Teaspoon.
Mace 1 blade.
Nutmeg powder half Teaspoon.
Whole spices (5 green cardamoms, 4 cloves,
1 dry red chilli, 1 small cinnamon stick, 1 bay leaf)
1 Teaspoon garam masala powder.
4 green chilies.
Mustard oil 6 Teaspoon.

Salt and sugar.

Warm water.

Steps

Heat mustard oil in a kadai / pan.
Add 1 Teaspoon sugar in the hot oil and caramelize it.
Then add bay leaf, green cardamom, cloves, cinnamon stick and dry red chilli. Saute it for a minute.
Add chopped onion with pinch of salt. Fry this till golden brown.
Add ginger and garlic paste. Cook this for 2
minutes.
Then add chopped tomatoes. Cook this for 5
minutes.
Now add salt, all the above mentioned powders and one blade of mace. Mix it for 3 minutes.

When the oil starts separating, add the mutton and enough salt. Mix it very well for 15 minutes.

Then cook it in slow flame with lid for 20 minutes. Mutton will leave its own juice.

If the mutton becomes too dry, then add some warm water.

After 35 minutes add the potatoes and green chilies.

Cook it till the meat AND potatoes become very soft. It will take time. Only if you have less time to cook, you can use pressure cooker.

Mutton should have some very thick gravy (usually its a semi-dry preparation).

Chicken Biryani

I do have someone in my home who wants to eat my handmade 'chicken biriyani' once in a week. I make this biriyani not too much rich and spicy but with some mild flavours and tender chicken pieces. I do not like any side with my biriyani because I only want to enjoy those flavours of biriyani. For him I make 'korma'/'chaaap'/'kosha' etc. Enjoy your weekend with a full plate of homemade warm Biryani.

Ingredients

Chicken leg pieces 4.
Basmati rice 4 cups.
Two small potatoes.
One onion sliced.
Ginger and garlic paste 2 Teaspoon.
Curd 4 Teaspoon.
Biryani masala 4 Teaspoon.(from any indian store).
Cumin seed 1 Teaspoon.
Green cardamom 5.
Six cloves.
One star anis.
One small cinnamon stick.
Yellow food colour.
Two green chilies.
Clarified butter/ghee 8 Teaspoons.
2 Teaspoons kewra water.
Salt and sugar.
Water.

Steps

Marinate the chicken pieces with curd, ginger and garlic paste for 3 hours.
Take a pan. Heat 4 Teaspoons ghee.
Add sliced onion. Fry it till golden brown.
Add marinated chicken. Mix it well.
Add salt, biryani masala, green chilies and potato. Mix it very well for 5 minutes.
Now add some luke warm water and cook this until potatoes and chicken are fully done.
Don't make it too much runny or dry. Make some thick gravy .
Turn off the gas.
Now wash the basmati rice in cold water very well.
Boil some water with cumin seeds, green cardamom, cloves, cinnamon stick, star anis and 4 Teaspoons salt.
Add the rice in boiling water. Check the rice every two minutes.
When the rice 80% done drain the water.
Now take vessel. Don't turn on the gas. Put 1

Teaspoon ghee.

Then put a layer of cooked chicken with some gravy, then a layer of rice. Repeat the process twice. Add 3 Teaspoons ghee, 2 Teaspoons of kewra water and a pinch of yellow food color on top of rice.

Cover the vessel with a very tight lid. Turn on the gas and keep the vessel on gas for 20 minutes in medium flame.

Then turn off the gas and keep it uncover for another 10 minutes. After that open the vessel.

Chicken Sandwich

Who doesn't love sandwich ? When there is chicken, I am always up for it . I make this kind of sandwich in my home oftenly. The taste is kind of Indian spicy but believe me you will love it. One can make many kinds of sandwiches, and this one is my kind. If you have everything in your hand then the process is very simple and easy. You will need 'green chutney' for the sandwich. Make this in your own kitchen and don't forget to share your sandwich story with me.

Ingredients

For Chicken

- 1 chicken breast.
- 1 Teaspoon black pepper.
- Half Teaspoon red chili powder.
- 1 Teaspoon lemon juice.
- 1 Teaspoon ginger and garlic paste.
- Some bread crumbs.
- Salt.
- 5 tablespoons white oil.

For Sandwich

- 4 slices of white bread.
- 4 Teaspoons butter.
- 4 Teaspoons green chutney.
- 4 Teaspoons mayonnaise.
- 5 Teaspoons chili sauce.
- Half cup onion thinly sliced.
- Half cup capsicum thinly sliced.
- 4 tablespoons grated cheese.

Steps

For chicken

Marinate the chicken breast with black pepper, chili powder, salt, lemon juice, ginger and garlic paste. Keep it for 30 minutes.

Then heat oil in a pan.

Coat the chicken breast with marination in bread crumbs and place it in hot oil.

Fry one side in medium flame for 15 minutes then turn it to the other side and cook it for another 10 minutes. Remove it from the oil.

Let it cool down a bit and then slice the breast with a sharp knife.

Assembling

Mix the mayonnaise and chilli sauce in bowl. Keep it aside.

Spread 1 Teaspoon butter on outer side of a bread which will go at the bottom.

Then spread 1 Teaspoon green chutney on inner side of that bread.

Place some chicken slices, onions, capsicum and 2 tablespoons of cheese on that bread.

Spread 1 Teaspoon mayo mixture on the inner side of a bread which will go to the top.

Then spread 1 Teaspoon butter on outer side of that bread.

Sandwich

Place the sandwich in a hot pan. Remember, place the butter side of the bread down. Keep it for 2 minutes.

Then flip it carefully to the other side. Keep it another 2 minutes.

Remove it from the pan and cut it to half.

Radhaballavi

Almost in every Bengali wedding they serve 'radhaballavi' along with 'aloor dom' as breakfast. 'Radhaballavi' is nothing but deep fried puffed bread stuffed with spicy lentil. It tastes even better with spicy curry and 'rosogolla'. There are many varieties of fried puffed bread like 'daalpuri', 'luchi', 'kochuri' etc and this one is also very tasty. Last night I made it along with potato curry and we all love it.

Ingredients

For stuffing

1 cup of urad daal / biuli daal.
1 inch ginger.
1 green chilli.
1 Teaspoon asafoetida / hing.
Spices (1 Teaspoon cumin seeds, 1 Teaspoon fennel seeds, 2 dry red chilies)
Salt and sugar.
3 tablespoons of white oil.

For dough

2 cups of all purpose flour.
Salt.
2 Teaspoons of white oil.
Some warm water.
White oil for deep frying.

Steps

Stuffing

Wash and soak the daal for 3-4 hours.

Then drain the water and grind it along with ginger and green chili to a semi smooth paste. You can add little water while grinding. Keep aside.

Dry roast the spices for 5 minutes and grind them to fine powder. Keep it aside.

Heat 3 tbsps white oil in a pan.

Add asafoetida in hot oil. Mix it for 30 secs. Then add the mixture of daal. Keep stirring it for 15 minutes.

Add salt, pinch of sugar and that spice powder. Mix it very well for another 7 minutes. Turn off the heat and let it cool down.

Dough

Take flour, salt and oil in a bowl. Mix these dry things very well.

Then add little by little water and keep mixing with the flour. Make a semi soft dough.

Knead it properly for 6 minutes. Apply some oil on the surface and let it rest covered with damp cloth for 20 minutes.

Frying

First make lemon size balls out of the dough and then make small size balls out of the stuffing.

Now take a dough ball, flatten it, put a stuffing ball in the center and then seal the edges.

Apply some oil on the surface and flatten it gently to 2-3 inches with a rolling pin otherwise the stuffing will come out.

Fry this bread in hot oil one by one. When it will puff up and golden in color, remove them in a paper towel.
